less adequately, results and discussion should be separated

No. There are no recommendations for this study, this is a drawback. only convey implications and limitations. Even then it is not clear because there are no section. Just go to the conclusion section

Yes

Your Additional Comments

This research is interesting; it just needs some improvement. I hope you are not disappointed with this suggestion.

1. You chose Edmodo over other LMS such as Google Classroom, Kelase, etc. Isn't Edmodo currently closed for Indonesian access?
 2. You do not describe the problem; you should start with the student subject. What is going on over there? Continue to enter into the learning style then alternative LMS is used. You also need to explain the problem with the subject you are researching. Then came the gap research.
 3. In the background section, you must add a research question or objective. This is very important in the discussion of the next section, such as the Literature review, methods, results, and conclusions
