Frequently Asked Question

How do I view the reviewer comments, after the formal peer review, if the Editor-in-Chief provided feedback regarding my article?

The editor should send you an email stating all the revisions suggested during the formal peer review process. If you are advised to download the comments via your personalised journal section, follow these steps:

- Log into your personalised journal section in the journal.
- Under your 'User Home' click on the 'Author' or 'Active' link that will direct you to your 'Active Submissions Table'.
- Under the 'Status Column', click on 'In Review: Revisions Required'. This link takes you to the overview of the peer review process.
- The review page of your article provides information and documentation under the heading 'Peer Review', and will identify files by reviewers, e.g. Reviewer B 19-123-1-RV.docx 2011-08-10. Download these documents to view the reviewer files.

Frequently Asked Question: The Editor-in-Chief has requested revisions to my article. How do I submit my revised version?

When the editor dealing with your submission chooses to ask for a revision, you will be notified by email. In the journal's personalised section your submission will move in the active table from the status 'In Review' to 'In Review: Revisions Required'.

When you prepare a revised version of your manuscript, it is essential that you carefully follow the instructions given in the editor's letter. Use the standard uploading format (as described for original submissions), but include both a clean copy of your manuscript and an annotated copy describing the changes you have made. Failure to do so will cause a delay in the review of your revision.

If references, tables, or figures are moved, added, or deleted during the revision process, renumber them to reflect such changes so that all tables, references (Vancouver Style) and figures are cited in numeric order. Images need only be uploaded if changes have been made to the figures since the previous version.

The annotated copy should have highlights on the changes (either by using the 'Track Changes' function in Word or by highlighting or underlining text) with comments in the text referring to the editor or reviewer query. Be sure when you upload your annotated version that the changes are clearly visible on the Word (.doc) file prior to resubmission.

You should create a point-by-point response letter specifying how you have addressed each of the editor's and reviewer's comments.

Using the review version of your manuscript, edit and revise your submission according to the reviewers' and editor's comments, and follow the steps:

- When you have addressed the comments and completed your revisions, log into your journals' personalised section and click on 'In Review: Revisions Required'.
- Under the 'Editor Decision', click on the bubble icon to view the editor's decision letter. If needed, you may view the original editor and reviewer comments by clicking files linked under the 'Review Round'.
- Once your revisions are correctly formatted and prepared, click on 'Browse' to begin uploading your revised manuscript from your desktop. Ensure to upload a clean, annotated and point-by-point version as part of your revised manuscript submission.

Once all three documents are uploaded, you will need to inform the editor via email of your resubmission. Click on the email icon and proceed to type and email the editor. Remember to press 'Send'.

Dear Assoc. Prof. Subhan Abdullah Acim

Your galley proofs have arrived!

We are excited to share your manuscript in your Author Centre in galley format (PDF) to proofread and review. Kindly ensure to scrutinize the galley proofs well and include any necessary changes at this point, which include, among others:

- Answer all related queries from production staff and editors.
- Pay close attention to deadlines; late submissions can delay publishing.
- Always check author order, author names and affiliations.
- If you introduce text, make only critical changes that might affect conclusions (e.g., data revisions).
- Update any in-press citations if published at the proof stage.
- Correct typos.
- Do not make extensive text changes or move blocks of text.
- Please do not make your changes within the PDF, as we will not be able to track the changes made.

This proof contains notes and queries from production staff and editors that need to be addressed to avoid publication delays. To ensure timely publication of your manuscript, we ask that you do not skip a query and markup the critical and necessary changes due to errors. Your work must reach your intended readership not just as soon as possible but at a quality level that makes your scientific impact in the scholarly community.

Steps to access the galley proofs:

1. Visit the platform by following the link

<https://hts.org.za/index.php/hts/author/submissionEditing/8154>

2. Log in to the journal, if required.

3. Select the link labelled 'View Proof' under the heading 'Layout'.

You will be able to download the PDF onto your computer or print it.

4. Add changes (typographical and format) by either adding markup and comments on the galley with a PDF viewer application using the HIGHLIGHT TOOL ('How to Use the Comment and Markup Tools in Adobe Acrobat': <https://tinyurl.com/5n7795k5>) or adding your comments to the function 'Proofreading Corrections' on the platform.

If you struggle with this functionality, you can make your comments in a Word Document. Upload your proofread PDF with markup comments under Step 1: Proofreading. Ensure to upload any figures or tables that need replacing too. You will be able to upload multiple files.

5. Finally, inform me that your proofread PDF is available. In Step 1, proceed to click the email icon under COMPLETE. You will not be able to add any more files after sending this email.

We ask that you respond to this email as an indication that you have received our request. Would you please let me know if an extension is required?

1	Abstract.	In the abstract section, the components contained are relevant to the writing guidelines, but need to be equipped with the urgency of doing research at the beginning of the paragraph.	This article presents the systematic, substantive, and functional reasons for how they could work altogether by looking at the similarities and differences in anatomy, taxonomy, substance, and function of each component of the corpus.
2	Introduction.	On the background, it is very important to reveal the similarities and differences between Pancasila and the Qur'an so that it is logical to conduct a comparative study between the two. At the end of the introduction, it is necessary to reveal the novelty of the research conducted.	Consequently, it obtained a comprehensive picture of the systematic, substantive, and functional similarities and differences between the holy book of the Qur'an and the ideology of Pancasila. It finally revealed why the two corpora could walk side by side. From the findings, it is hoped that it could provide comprehensive knowledge about the similarities and differences between the Qur'an and the Pancasila and, at the same time, answer curiosity about the reasons how they can work together. The description of the similarities and differences between the Qur'an and Pancasila in terms of anatomy, taxonomy, substance, and function are novelty in this study.

5	Discussion.	In the discussion section, it has been described comprehensively.	There is no revision in this section.
6	Conclusion.	It is necessary to disclose recommendations for further research based on the weaknesses of the research that has been carried out as a reference for further researchers.	Another important thing that became the findings of this research is that Pancasila as a way of life has substantive similarities with the Qur'an, therefore Pancasila should not be contradicted with the Qur'an. Further research is needed to explore the relationship between the Qur'an and Pancasila in the real life of the nation and state in Indonesia.

REVISION FOR REVIEWER C

No	Part	Reviewer Suggestion	Revision
1	Abstract.	The abstract has been formulated sufficiently and in accordance with the author's guidelines.	There is no revision in this section.
2	Introduction.	The purpose of the comparison between the Qur'an and Pancasila is only to find out the similarities between the two objects. It is not in accordance with the results and discussion section which explains the similarities and differences between them. So, in this section the differences of both Alquran and Pancasila should be stated.	Because of the similarity, the two different ideologies work together at the same time and in one social system. Therefore, it is intriguing to explore the similarities and differences between the holy book of the Qur'an and the ideology of Pancasila.
3	Method.	The method is sufficient.	There is no revision in this section.
4	Findings.	The research findings are sufficient and written according to the author's guidelines.	There is no revision in this section.
5	Discussion.	The discussion section is sufficient. It has comprehensively discussed the research findings.	There is no revision in this section.
6	Conclusion.	The conclusion is sufficient.	There is no revision in this section.

ARTICLE REVISION

Title	:	SYSTEMATIC, SUBSTANTIVE, AND FUNCTIONAL COMPARISON BETWEEN THE QUR'AN AND PANCASILA
Abstract	:	This article presents the systematic, substantive, and functional reasons for how they could work altogether by looking at the similarities and differences in anatomy, taxonomy, substance, and function of each component of the Qur'an and Pancasila. Utilizing a naturalistic approach with content analysis genre, the writers collected the data from various documents, including; manuscripts of the Qur'an, Pancasila, speeches of the founding fathers of Indonesia, and the previous research results using document recording sheets. The collected data were analyzed through content analysis techniques and displayed in pictures and tables. The results showed: (1) the anatomy of the Qur'an consists of four components, namely: divinity, law, history, and story, while the anatomy of Pancasila only consists of a law component; (2) the taxonomy of the Qur'an is intersected with one another, while the taxonomy of Pancasila is stratified. The values in all components are generally the same, and the divine value is the primary value. The taxonomy of values in Pancasila is degraded and systemic, with the divine value as the main value / encompassing other values (prima causa); (3) the Qur'an's substance covers all life dimensions while the dimensions of Pancasila are limited to law. One of the essential points in this section is that Pancasila makes the Qur'an a source of value; (4) the Qur'an is partially or holistically functional while Pancasila is holistically functional. Therefore, componential and substantial, the Qur'an and Pancasila have similarities, while structurally and functionally, they are different.

Findings: In first paragraph	As explained in the background, four aspects explored in this research were the anatomy, taxonomy, substance and function of the holy book of the Qur'an with the ideology of Pancasila. The four aspects will be displayed sequentially in the format of images, tables, and narratives to make it easier for everyone to understand the research findings. These aspects were compared to determine the two corpora's systematic sequence, substantive relationship, and functional pattern. Through the comparison, a picture of the similarities and differences between the two corpora could be obtained.
Discussion: In Paragraph 8	The substantive relationship, as described in Figure 4 and Table 1, illustrates that the content of the Qur'an's substance is much broader than that of Pancasila. The Qur'an contains all aspects of life, ranging from the supernatural and transcendental to the natural and empirical aspects. Meanwhile, Pancasila includes aspects of divinity (how to maintain religious tolerance), personal (becoming a good citizen) and social (building social harmonisation in diversity). The explanation above clearly illustrates that the content of the Qur'an is extensive, such as ruling human relations with God, human relations with other humans, human connections with nature and the relationship between citizens and the state. Ajahari (2018:6) and Ichsan (2012) also explained that the Qur'an holistically sets all aspects of life. On the other hand, Pancasila only regulates three aspects: divinity, personal, and social. The goal of regulating these three aspects is to build harmonious relationships between individuals with society and the state. Thus, the content of Pancasila is limited to human relations in a sociological and political context. It is reflected in Pancasila's function as the state basis, the way of life and the ideology of the Indonesian nation and state (Asmaroini 2017; Kaderi 2015:7; Sumardi 2022).
